*Illumináre, Jerúsalem, quia venit lumen tuum,
et glória Dómini super te orta est.
Et ambulábunt gentes in lúmine tuo,
et reges in splendóre ortus tui.*

*Fílii tui de longe vénient
et filiae tuae de látere tuo consúrgent.
Omnes de Saba vénient,
aurum et thus deferéntes,
et laudem Dómino annuntiántes.*

*Shine, O Jerusalem, for thy light is come,
and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.
And the Gentiles shall come to thy light,
and kings to the brightness of thy rising.*

*Thy sons shall come from afar,
and thy daughters shall rise up at thy side.
All they from Saba shall come,
bearing gold and frankincense,
and shewing forth praise to the Lord.*

(Responsory for the Feast of the Epiphany)

from Isaiah 60:1, 3, 4 & 6

Pierre de Manchicourt was a contemporary of Nicolas Gombert and Jacobus Clemens non Papa, and was active in both Burgundy and Spain during the reigns of Charles V and Phillip II, culminating in his appointment by the latter as maestro de capilla flamenca in Madrid in 1559. The fact that Attaingnant, publisher of the French Royal Court, devoted his fourteenth and final volume of motets in 1539 entirely to Manchicourt's work (an honour he bestowed on no other, and emulated by Flemish publishers Susato and Phalèse in 1545 and 1554 respectively) bears testament to the composer's reputation in his day. Manchicourt's highly polyphonic style of composition lost favour around the time of his death, as the liturgical reforms of the Council of Trent took hold — marking the transition from the High Renaissance to the less florid Late-Renaissance style of Victoria and Palestrina.

Editorial Notes:

This Epiphany responsory is the final work in Phalèse's 1554 collection of Manchicourt's motets. While it is not unusual to find occasional minor errors in early printed sources (such as a note mis-placed on the staff, or a missing note stem or augmentation dot) this publication contains two relatively significant errors: the secunda pars of the Tenor part is one-and-a-half semibreves short in the vicinity of the thirty-seventh breve (m.121 in this edition), and the final note of the Bassus part is missing. Phalèse corrects both errors in the 1560 reprint of this volume.

This edition is set a tone higher than the original. Editorial accidentals are indicated above the note. Original note values are retained: thus, consistent with 16th-century convention, the C mensuration sign and its modern-equivalent C time signature signify a semibreve tactus. Bar lines are added only to aid reading and direction: 'strong' and 'weak' beats implied by their position should never take precedence over phrasing or word stress. Ligatures and coloration in the source are acknowledged with overarching square brackets and open 'corner' brackets respectively. Word underlay reflects editorial judgment and is freely adjusted: editorial re-iteration of text not explicit in the source is indicated in italic.

[†] Bassus, m.158.1: final note erroneously omitted from the 1554 source, rectified in the 1560 reprint.
