Easter Morning

Rev. E.P. Parker D.D.

With animation and marked accent

Unison Chorus

Organ

Rev. E.P. Parker D.D.

Easter Morning

Dudley Buck

Ed. Douglas Walczak (ASCAP)

Unison

Chorus

Organ

©2004 Douglas Walczak (ASCAP)

This edition may be freely downloaded, duplicated, distributed, performed or recorded.
their dear Lord was sleeping; With perfumes sweet and shining angels singing; The Lord is ris'n! Be end on Easter morning; And doubts, and fears, and rose from death victorious; For all He broke its mercy sweet imploring! Go forth with song your spices rare, and sweet balms of tears and pray'r, To shroud His not afraid! The Lord has ris'n as He hath said! Be hold the griefs and pain, Dissolve like clouds in gentle rain, To make the cruel sway, and rolled the heavy stone away, From every Lord to greet; Bow down and worship at His feet, With Alle rest with tender care, with tender care.

place where He was laid, where He was laid.
spring tide bloom again, bloom again.
grave, on Easter Day, on Easter Day.
lucias, Alleluias loud and sweet.
2. What
3. The
4. With
5. Now