

Sudbury (1794)*

Transcribed from The Continental Harmony, 1794

Treble

Counter

Tenor

Bass

1. What if the saint must die, and lodge a-mong the tombs? He need not mourn, he

2. The re-sur-rec-tion day Shall crown the saints with joy, When Christ shall come to

3. E-ter-nal joy in-deed With them is now be-gun; They walk in white, and

5

Ti.

C.

T.

B.

shall re-turn, Re-joy-cing as he comes. With fetch them home, And all their griefs de-stroy. When shine more bright than the me-ri-dian sun, Their 10

1. Though death should hold him down,
2. Now will they sing for joy,
3. Be - hold the bles - sed Lamb,

Ti.

C.

T.

B.

bands and migh-ty bars, Yet he shall rise a-bove the skies, and sing a-bove the they in beau-ty rise, Their songs a-round the pla-nets sound, As they a-scend the songs shall e-ver sound; The an-gels join, and all com-bine to spread their an-thems

15

1.

2.

Ti.

C.

T.

B.

stars. Yet skies. Their round. The

*. The page in The Continental Harmony is entitled West-Sudbury, but a note to the Index says it "should be named Sudbury."