Ne derelínquas me, Dómine,
 dominátor vitae meae,
 in die tribulatiónis:
 sed in misericórdia tua
salvum me fac, ut enárrem mirabilia tua.
 Propterea confitébor tibi, Dómine,
 et psallam nómini tuo:
quóniam non déseris sperántes in te.
Salvum me fac, ...

Forsake me not, O Lord,
sovereign ruler of my life,
in the day of trouble:
but, in your mercy,
 save me, so that I may declare your wonders.
Because of this I will give you praise, O Lord,
and sing your name:
for you do not abandon those who trust in you.
 Save me, ...

adapted from (inter alia) Ps. 17:50, 25:7, 30:17, 37:22 (Vulg.); Eccl. 23:1

Pierre de Manchicourt, a contemporary of Nicolas Gombert and Jacobus Clemens non Papa, was active in both Burgundy and Spain during the reigns of Charles V and Phillip II, culminating in his appointment by the latter as maestro de capilla flamenca in Madrid in 1559. The fact that Attaingnant, publisher of the French Royal Court, devoted his fourteenth and final volume of motets in 1539 entirely to Manchicourt's work (an honour he bestowed on no other, and emulated by Flemish publishers Susato and Phalèse in 1545 and 1554 respectively) bears testament to the composer's reputation in his day. Manchicourt's highly polyphonic style of composition lost favour around the time of his death, as the liturgical reforms of the Council of Trent took hold — marking the transition from the High Renaissance to the less florid Late-Renaissance style of Victoria and Palestrina.

Editorial Notes:

Manchicourt's setting of this penitential responsory follows an 'ABCB' structure common to many of his responsorial motets. It survives only in Attaignant's 1539 volume of Manchicourt motets.

This edition is set at the original notated pitch. Editorial accidentals are indicated above the note. Original note values are retained: thus, consistent with 16th-century convention, the  $\text{C}$  mensuration sign and its modern-equivalent  $\text{C}$  time signature signify a semibreve tactus. Bar lines are added only to aid reading and direction: 'strong' and 'weak' beats implied by their position should never take precedence over phrasing or word stress. Ligatures in the source are acknowledged with overarching square brackets. Word underlay reflects editorial judgment and is freely adjusted: editorial re-iteration of text not explicit in the source is indicated in italic.
